

Three-Drawer Fire-Files

Today, ably managed companies recognize the desirability of always safeguarding records, both ordinary and irreplaceable, not only from fire hazard, but also from unauthorized reference.

That's why three-drawer Fire-Files are rapidly becoming standard equipment for housing records built up anywhere in the office away from walls.

Where a Fire-File is to be placed in a Triple-I Counter with other equipment, use 27-inch depth Fire-Files Nos. C4027 or C4127 pictured on page 152.

One-hour labels, heavy-duty Free-Coasting Slides, drawers, latches, sliding followers, hardware of beautiful durable brushed aluminum, finest lacquer finish, and Signal Plunger Lock controlling all drawers. (Locks not keyed alike unless specified.) Same in every detail as the 4-drawer Fire-Files, page 171.

At right, two Fire-Files are intermembered with seven non-insulated Files to provide point-of-service protection for more important records.
